Numbers Given For Summer Term Registration High

Registration for first session summer school at Brigham Young University has reached 2,055, it was announced Wednesday by Bliss H. Crandall, dean of admissions and records. Enrollment at the same time last year was 2,175, which included 300 seminary and institute teachers of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, who were required to attend.

Cumulative enrollment for the two sessions of summer school last year was 2,500. Dean Crandall said he expects the number to reach that figure again this year.

The first session of summer school started June 10 and will end July 12. The second session runs from July 15 to August 16, with the summer convocation of the 82nd commencement scheduled on the last day. Dr. Howard T. Reid, acting rector of summer school, announced students may now register any time for the second session.

AFL-CIO Spokesman Reveals Needs Of Union To Workshop

Disclosure of misappropriated funds by Teamster President Dave Beck may actually be "one of the best things that has happened to the union movement," a national representative of the CIO-AFL said Friday.

Seymour Brandwein, labor union spokesman from Washington, made this observation Friday at the Utah Workshop on Economic Education being held at Brigham Young University.

Unions Embarrassed

Although all unions have been embarrassed by Beck's behavior, Brandwein said, many labor groups will subsequently weed out some of the people who have played loose with funds.

"It may also produce Congressional legislation which will centralize administrative policy and come up with the right kind of legislation to disclose all transactions in insurance companies and health welfare funds."

The speaker said the 15,000,000 workers in some 138 national unions are a diversified group.

They have no central treasury or uniform viewpoint. The problems faced by 65,000 local unions are sometimes totally different, their attitudes and goals just as varied and diversified.

Time Negligible

He pointed out that every year unions and management successfully negotiated from 75,000 to 100,000 contracts without serious dispute, and that time lost through strikes is .25 of one per cent of all working time.

"The growth of unions," Brandwein declared, "is one of the most significant factors in our country's economic growth. It has produced a higher standard of living, provided the laborer with protection, and produced decent working surroundings."

Friday's discussion on labor-management relationships brought to a close the second week of Workshop activity.

The clinic will resume Monday morning subjects of agriculture, world economy and atomic energy as the central topics.

Student Relates Escape To Free World, Fiance

By SALLY ARNOLD
Co-chairman Hungarian Committee

Elizabeth Szeremi Erzsebet faced Brigham Young University and her new life here Thursday morning with a pleasant smile and a warm handshake.

The small dark-haired Hungarian coed alighted from an airplane early Thursday morning after a journey which actually began last year in revolution-torn Budapest and terminated in Provo.

Relates Escape

In her halting English Miss Erzsebet related her dramatic escape from Hungary. Her fiance, Loran Skoza, had fled his homeland in November. Miss Erzsebet was working in a travel bureau in Budapest in December when Skoza and one of his friends re-crossed the border into Hungary to help the young woman out of the country.

She said many Hungarians and Austrians helped them escape. The refugees hid in bushes along the roadside while Russian tanks passed by on the road. After bribing a border guard, they were able to cross to safety in Austria in late December.

In February Miss Erzsebet was chosen as one of the recipients of BYU's two student-donated scholarships. Her journey to the United States was delayed indefinitely when all Hungarian student visas to the United States were cancelled in March. Meanwhile, Skoza preceded her to the United States, where he accepted a scholarship to do graduate studies in chemistry at the University of Utah.

Friends Write

Friends of Skoza in Salt Lake City wrote a letter to President Eisenhower. At the same time the BYU Hungarian Student Committee was contacting government officials in an attempt to acquire a visa for her and Peter Polgar, the other refugee student chosen to receive BYU's scholarship, and a "nice professor" in Vienna was helping from that side of the Atlantic.

Visas were granted two weeks ago and the students were flown, one at a time, to the United States by the International Rescue Committee. Skoza was at the airport to meet her Thursday morning.

Polgar is now in New York City and is expected to arrive in Provo within the next two weeks.

Missionary Selects

Miss Erzsebet said she and Polgar were neighbors in Budapest living but three houses apart, however, they met for the first time in the apartment of a missionary of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, Elder Richard Klein, in Vienna. Elder Klein had been commissioned by BYU to screen applicants for the scholarships.

The refugee student was introduced to the studentbody at Thursday's assembly, where she quickly admitted fright of large groups of people and refused to speak for herself.

She will be registered in special English classes for the summer and will begin studying toward a degree in Architecture in the fall.

Schedules Revised For Campus Wards

In addition to the listing of ward meetings in last week's Universe the following are also in effect: 6th, 9th, 11th and 15th Wards combined meetings in the Smith Building auditorium with Relief Society and Priesthood at 9 a. m., Sunday School at 10:30 a. m., Sacrament meeting at 7 p. m. and Mutual on Tuesday at 7:30 p. m.

College Building on lower campus will hold 7th Ward meetings. Priesthood at 9:15 a. m., Relief Society at 9:30 a. m., Sunday School at 11 a. m. and Sacrament meeting at 7 p. m. Mutual will be held at 8 p. m. Tuesday.

Eighth Ward meetings will also be held in the College Building, with Priesthood and Relief Society at 8:45 a. m., Sunday School at 10 a. m., Sacrament meeting at 5 p. m. and Mutual 7 p. m. Tuesday.

Summer school activity cards will not admit students to Leadership Week activities, according to Lynn Hilton, assistant to Dean Harold Glen Clark, adult education and extension services.

Summer School Officers Elected; Estes, Dahlin To Head Government

Studentbody officers for summer school at Brigham Young University were elected at the polls last Friday. Rex Estes, Stockton, Calif., was elected studentbody president, while Kenneth Dahlin, Concord, Calif., and Louise Johnson, Buhl, Idaho, were elected vice president and secretary-treasurer, respectively.

Estes has served in the student senate and has also been active in music and drama as chairman of the public relations committee. He is presently serving

The new president will graduate in August with a B.S. degree in industrial psychology, and then will leave for an LDS

Church mission. He plans to return to do graduate work in engineering.

Apologies To Mr. Heaton For Mistake In Story

Due to a misunderstanding Israel Heaton was erroneously printed as working with H. T. Alumbaugh, president of Windsor records. It has come to our knowledge that Alma Heaton was working on these albums instead of his brother, Israel.

ANYWHERE I PONDER

The Paganini Quartet has not been without its adventures and delays. On their way to a concert in Portland, Oregon, they suddenly discovered that the car was out of gas. This wasn't too bad in itself, the greater problem was the fact that they were in a pass about 8,000 feet up with tons of snow on both sides. After they had been rescued from this predicament, they ran into another problem the next day—their power steering failed.

Born in Scotland, Temianka is the only member of the quartet not born in Belgium. He speaks English, Dutch, French, and German, and has an elementary knowledge of Hebrew, Norwegian, and Spanish. The family consists of his wife Emmy, from San Francisco; David Ivan, a son of four and a half months; nine year old Danny; and Webster Flopp-ears Shmootehel Temianka, a Cocker Spaniel.

Leader Writes

Temianka is now writing for magazines, producing educational motion pictures and recordings, and giving private lessons to a select few. His articles have appeared in such magazines as Esquire, Holiday, and Elude.

Charles Foidart is twice a grandfather. His hobby is furniture building for his home, and for relaxation he likes to drive. He feels that many musicians spend too much time talking and not enough playing. "You cannot convey music with words. . . It is difficult to express something so esoteric as music with something so concrete as words."

Woodworking Cellist

Lucien La Porte, the cellist, also works with wood for his hobby. He has built fences, benches and tables for the patio of his Los Angeles home. After training in Paris, La Porte was brought to the United States by Walter Damrosch as solo cellist for the New York Symphony Orchestra. His American-born wife is also a musician; her instrument is the violin. She once appeared with the quartet at BYU as assistant artist.

Both Foidart and La Porte are well-known for their ability as cooks. Often people who know this will buy food and invite the two musicians to the kitchen to prepare one of their fabulous dinners. On a recent trip to Provo the two quartet members were well prepared: they had the back of the car filled with cooking utensils.

Busy Hands

Foidart and Gustave Rosseels, the second violinist, have both taught as well as having been students at the Royal Conservatory in Brussels. Rosseels taught on what might be comparable to a fellowship at BYU. He has the largest family of anyone in the quartet, consisting of his wife and their three children.

After leaving BYU, the quartet will tour South America, including Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Uruguay, Peru and Mexico. But for the present, BYU is enjoying their stay and benefiting from the high quality of classical music and entertainment the quartet offers.

Education Administrator Gets New State Job California Colleges

Arthur D. Browne, professor of higher education and director of bureau of administrative studies at Brigham Young University, has accepted position as consultant in college curricula in California State Department of Education.

His overall aim of his position will be to aid in the improvement of state college curriculum. He will assist deans and presidents of state colleges to develop curricula, staff their programs, and make proper allocation of funds.

Browne will leave BYU in August and take up offices in Sacramento. He joined the staff in 1952.

June Music School Celebrated 40 Years Close In August

June School of Music and will be closed according to decision announced from the office of President Ernest L. Benson.

Founded in 1917, the school operated as a part of Brigham Young University and will be closed August 1. The director of the McCune school, N. L. Mitchell said the Virginia McCune Conservatory of Creative Music will continue as a state and private school in Lake City. The McCune school has initiated a move to keep the music school as a separate institution, he said.

Operation on the basis of a new school without direct religious instruction in its curriculum was the reason for closing the school, according to President Wilkinson.

The June school has a faculty of 30 members and a cumulative yearly enrollment of approximately 2,000. B. Cecil was the first director of the school following its founding years ago.

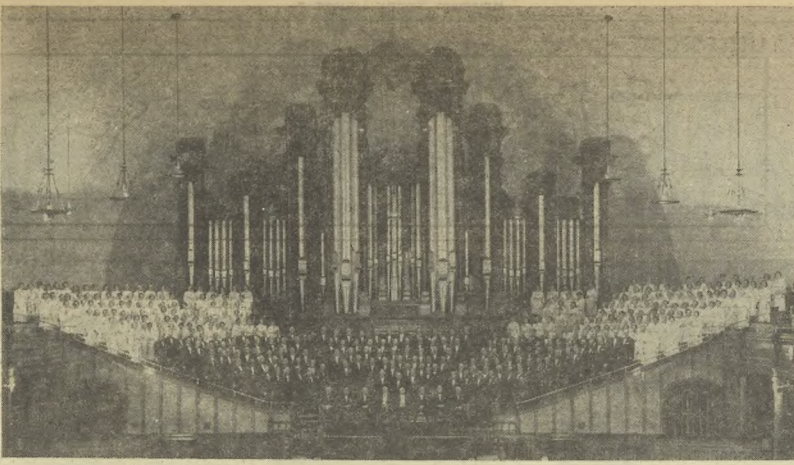

W. Y. Cannon was director from 1925 to 1950 and since then Mitchell has held the position. The school has been housed in a mansion built by the late W. McCune.

Radio Station Staff Openings

BYU, Brigham Young University campus radio station, is looking for persons interested in positions next fall. Applications are available in room 100 of the Speech Center.

Polio Victim Leads Active School Slate

by Sonya Ward
Summer Universe Writer

A Brigham Young University personality has returned to campus with full gusto and enthusiasm less than eight months after contracting polio and being sent to Salt Lake's Veterans Hospital.

Helen Lee de Graffenreid, commonly called Penny, was released from the hospital June 9, in time to begin work on her master's degree in speech during summer session. However, her activities are now limited to things which can be done from a wheel chair.

Penny's endless repertoire of experience keeps friends intrigued, and her usual conversation begins with the question, "Have you had your polio shots?"

Desired Doctorate

The only daughter in a family of four boys who called New York home, she desired to follow her surgeon-father and enrolled in pre-med at the University of Utah after high school.

Interest in dramatic arts soon gained favor over a medical career and she transferred to Utah State University and studied speech and theater under Dr. Harold I. Hansen, now head of BYU's speech department.

Experience gained in working with lights and scenery got her a job as chief carpenter with a summer theater in Norwich, Conn. Among other jobs, Penny also had the responsibility of buying shirts for actor Zachary Scott. "He wears 15½-35 with French cuffs," she relates.

Photo Worker

In 1951 Penny enlisted in the United States Air Force and photography became her work for four years while stationed at Ellington Air Force Base in Houston, Tex.

LDS Church friends and Dr. Hansen's transfer from Utah State University to BYU brought Penny to the Y after discharge in March 1955. In October of the same year she was baptised a member of the LDS Church.

"Getting adjusted to life outside the VA hospital is easy with the great help the girls and fellows are giving me," Penny stated. She can go almost anywhere although some routes differ from those of other students.

Penny's hope for the future lies in daily stretching exercises and optimistic therapists working with her. She has the qualities of a genuine trouper, never giving up hope and always pushing forward with a cheerful attitude.

Summer Theatre To Present Comedy Starring Actress French As 'Shrew'

"Taming of the Shrew" will be the opening production of Brigham Young University's Summer Theatre as the Shakespearean comedy begins its seven-day run June 26.

Miss Flo French, who is appearing at BYU during summer school as a guest instructor in the theatre-workshop, will star in the happy story of a shrewish wife. She has previously starred in former theatre productions at BYU as "Barretts of Wimpole Street," "The Lady's Not for Burning," and "Mad Woman of Chaillet."

Production will be given in BYU's newly-renovated arena theatre. A new cooling system, colorful deck chairs and new special lighting facilities have been recently added to the theatre to contribute to the comfort of actors and audiences in the theatre which is located in room 250 Arts Building on BYU's lower campus.

Cast of the play, which is under the direction of Dr. Harold I. Hansen and Robert Struthers includes: Lael J. Woodbury, Petruchio; Martha Adams, Bianca; Charleen Tilley, widow; Charles Whitman, Lyncetto; McKee Blaisdell, Trant; Mark Markworth, Baptista; Ray Jones, Gramio; Neal Barth, Hortensio; Brad Powell, Grumio; Boyce Harris, Biondell; Robert Allred, Curtis; Wayne Elton, Taylor; Jerry Elison, Haberdasher.

The play will be presented June 26-29 and July 1-3 beginning at 8:15 each night. According to Dr. Hansen, no one will be allowed into the theatre after curtain time.

Brigham Young University's tennis team was represented by Jud Flowers and Stan Collins in the NCAA tournament held in Salt Lake City Monday.

Competing for honors with some of the best tennis players in the United States, both Flowers and Collins were defeated.

In the singles division, Dave Freisstat, Maryland, defeated Flowers 6-2 and 6-2. Jim Jackson of Oregon State defeated Stan Collins 6-4 and 6-2.

In the doubles competition, Flowers and Collins combined their efforts only to lose to Freisstat and Carl Bucks of Maryland, 6-3 and 6-3.

There were 25 colleges and universities entered in the tournament.

Carrying the BYU colors into the national golf tournament at Colorado Springs, Colo., this weekend will be a six-man golfing team consisting of Max Fillmore, Phil Cannon, Lanny Nielson, Dean James, John Geertsen and Wynn Howe.

This is the first time a BYU golfing team has been entered in a national tournament.

Counting in the team championship will be the four best scores turned in by the six team members. Placing behind New Mexico University's team in a 10-team tournament, the Cougars finished second in the Broadmore Invitational earlier
